

Dear Sir

I am opposed to any regulation which infringes on long established fair use rights of consumers. The proposed broadcast flag technology will not prevent theft, but will limit the usefulness of digital television technologies. I, for one, am not interested in purchasing a television with broadcast flag technology. The reality is that we, as consumers, are being forced to accept a new standard that will require us to pay more for less. I will opt out.

Anthony Westerling